

The Legal Profession Needs Medical Experts

Own a Medico-Legal Practice and let us run it for you...

Q1: Have you ever considered taking on Medico-Legal work?

Q2: Are you keen to build on the work you already undertake, but can't find the support to do so?

Medico-Legal work can be hugely rewarding. Medical professionals' expertise is vital in helping the courts reach a decision, and critical to the resolution of cases.

As quoted by one of our leading experts (a consultant neurologist and clinical lead in epilepsy), ISIS MLNP "help medical experts establish their own thriving medico-legal practice, through providing administrative support and guidance."

We can offer you the opportunity to reap the rewards that come with having your own business, without the day-to-day involvement of running one.

Why Join ISIS Medico-Legal Partnership?

- ◆ we have long standing relationships within the legal profession and understand what is required from a medico-legal report
- ◆ we act as the link between the solicitor and the medical expert
- ◆ communication from a solicitor is a direct instruction to you, but as your skeleton business we handle everything other than the report writing itself
- ◆ we meet with all of our consultants
- ◆ we arrange informal social gatherings, giving our consultants the opportunity to meet and discuss experiences and on-going professional development
- ◆ we can sign experts up with a whole host of agencies
- ◆ reap the intrinsic rewards of a more personable and team effort approach to providing expert reports, which are essential to the successful resolution of cases
